TURKEY ACCEPTS BRITISH SCHEME

Question of Mosul Frontier Discussed Before Council of League of Nations and Compromise Results

BOUNDARY AT SIGNING OF LAUSANNE TREATY TAKEN

Fethi Bey Accuses England of Seeking to Influence Inhabitants in Order to Secure Control

BRUSSELS, Oct. 27.—The wisdom of saying precisely what one means, especially when it comes to treaties and other diplomatic documents, was driven home to statesmen today, when they gathered in Brussels for the opening of the special session of the council of the League of Nations. The first round in the Mosul status quo frontier dispute between Great Britain and Turkey, which the council was invited to settle, ended in a tie, with both sides agreeing if they wished to make hands and call off the fighting.

Fethi Bey, for Turkey, in a spirit of compromise, agreed to accept the English contention that the status quo of the frontier should be that which existed on July 23, 1923, the date on which the Lausanne treaty was signed, but he definitely differed with Great Britain as to just what that frontiers was.

Accuses Great Britain

The Turkish leader accused Great Britain of seeking to influence the Mosul inhabitants with a view to advancing the British case for the final possession of Mosul.

Lord Northrop, for Great Britain, was just as harsh to Turkey, saying that she had not only systematically pushed forward her troops on the Trak or Mosul line of the Lausanne treaty but had actually advanced since the last meeting of the council in Geneva, at the end of September.

Lord Northrop charged the Turks with a desire to annex Christians and of driving them from what should be regarded as no man's land, pending final settlement of the problem, as to what part, if any of the Mosul Valley goes to Turkey and what part to Iraq, which is under Great Britain's name.

Caused by this divergent interpretation of the Lausanne treaty, the council postponed to Hjalmar Branting, Sweden's new Premier, the difficult task of bringing in a harmony report, which would trace the difficulties of the two countries. With this done, the Mosul question is expected to come up, and thus give the council time to settle the main problem involved, which is that of Mosul's sovereignty.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE BREAKS ALL RULES

COUNCIL PROTESTS GOVERNMENT LAXITY IN MATTER

Aldermen Shocked to Learn Establishment Has Supplied City With Possibly Contaminated Meat

Vigorous protest at the laxity of the Provincial Board of Health against a small slaughter house which complies with none of the provincial sanitary regulations, to supply meat to the city, was voiced at last night's meeting of the City Council.

Residents were shocked to learn that the slaughter house, which was not named, has been supplying possibly contaminated meat to the Victoria market for a period of years. Medical Health Officer Dr. Price described the slaughter house as being the size of a large barn containing many pigs. The water used for cleansing purposes was taken from an impure stream flowing under the establishment. The floor of the slaughter house was of wood and not linoleum. From the ceiling, from the selling floor passed along a wooden trough to an oil drum on the sea beach above high water. There was no proper appliance for heating water.

Alderman Ker told the Council that he had written to the slaughter house with Dr. Price. Every regulation it seemed, had been broken. He would move that the Council resolve itself into a board of health to prohibit the sale in Victoria of meat from that particular slaughter house, and, further, to instruct Dr. Price to see that the establishment complied with the sanitary regulations.

"I would like to ask why the provincial authorities allow these things to go on," declared Alderman Ker. "The Government intended to bring into court as witness A. E. Calvert, J. C. Whittaker and Miss Garrison, of the Home Bank staff, and M. J. Haney, former president, were arraigned on conspiracy charges, but, by permission of the court, were not asked to enter a plea.

In the county criminal court, before Justice Conroy, the case for the Crown against Clarence F. Smith, director of the Home Bank, was concluded. Gordon Waldron, defence counsel, asked that the charge be dismissed, declaring that the Crown had failed to establish its case.

Requests Refused

The request was refused by His Honor, who also refused the further request that he instruct the Crown to bring into court as witness A. E. Calvert, J. C. Whittaker and Miss Garrison, of the Home Bank staff, and M. J. Haney, former president.

Waldron then said that he would have no witnesses for the defence, and D. L. McCarthy, Crown prosecutor, began his address to the judge, which will be continued tomorrow.

"Ask Your Honor to find my negligence," said the Crown prosecutor.

The directors were allowed out on the bail previously arranged, and that for M. J. Haney, who made his first appearance as a defendant, was granted a sum set at $1,000. His Lordship said the position of the directors was no worse if they were arraigned or not.

INDUSTRIES NEED STRONG PROTECTION TARIFF, SAYS

B.C. Fruit Growing Endangered by Removal by Government Party of Anti-Dumping Clause

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Contending that a strong protective tariff was necessary to foster the prosperity of Canada, Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., addressed a large gathering in the Conservative room this evening at the first meeting for the season held by the Sir John A. MacDonald Club. It was announced that the next function will be, if possible, luncheon to Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader.

Dr. Tolmie stated that throughout the Dominion, the public of all classes, labor, business men and capitalists, were losing confidence in the Mackenzie King Government, chiefly because its promise of economy was not being fulfilled and because its tariff policy was bringing about hard times.

High Tariff Country Preferred

He stated that even the low tariff advocates of the prairies, when they left this country in despair, were going not to Japan and China and India, where low prices the condition, they sought the high prices of Canada, and, but to the United States, the highest tariff country in the world.

In a report to the Game Conservation Board, Babcock states that during his last trapping season on the mountains back of North Vancouver, he took back of the animals above the snow-line, where he had his traps set for martens. They were all in the best of condition, in fact some of them exceedingly fat, showing that there had been no lack of food and easy hunting. The thickness of their fur showed that they were quite prepared for a life amid the snow. He received a good price for their pelts.

Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands are also infested with them. Wherever there have been lumber camps or summer cottages, cats have almost invariably been left or have deserted of their own free will. When they once turn to a wild life they have few enemies, food is plentiful and they increase rapidly.

DIRECTORS OF HOME BANK ARE FORMALLY CHARGED

Case Against Clarence F. Smith in County Criminal Court Concluded—Bail Allowed

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Rapid progress was made today in the trials of the Home Bank directors. M. J. Haney, former president, were arraigned on conspiracy charges, but, by permission of the court, were not asked to enter a plea.

In the county criminal court, before Justice Conroy, the case for the Crown against Clarence F. Smith, director of the Home Bank, was concluded. Gordon Waldron, defence counsel, asked that the charge be dismissed, declaring that the Crown had failed to establish its case.

U.S. OFFICIALS HINT AT MUTINY ON GUILIA

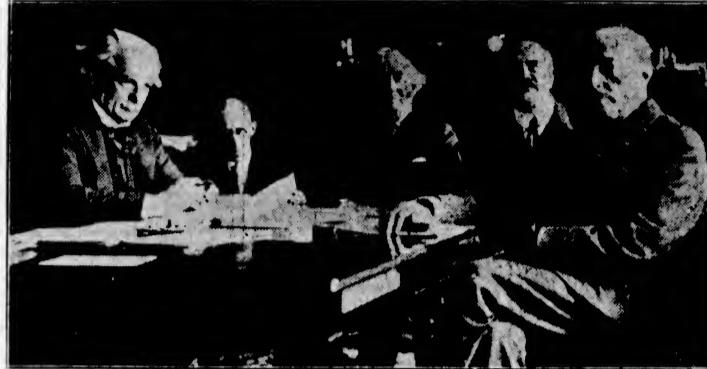

Secret Warrants Issued for Members of Crew of Derelict Run-Running Steam Yacht

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—Secret warrants of arrest, said to contain the names of several members of the crew of the recently scuttled big steam yacht Guilia, were issued today by a San Francisco Commissioner. Federal officers hinted that the crew, which had a rich cargo of contraband rum on board, might have been sunk for a mutiny. The warrants charged the men with violations of the Volstead Act.

Thirteen members of the crew of the Guilia were picked up in two lifeboats by the steamer Alameda and brought here. When taken off the coast of San Luis Obispo county, the men asserted they had scuttled the Guilia because she had no fuel for her engines and had liquor to sell.

It is a fact that they were all armed, however, and the fact that they were all armed, increased the suspicion that the Guilia, when sunk had fuel for twenty-four hours' steaming.

Jewelry Is Valued at $8,000—Solicitor Thinks Error Has Been Made in Making Seizure

Mr. George Norris, of the local customs office, has made an $8,000 pearl and diamond seizure. It was learned here yesterday. Both Mr. Norris and Mr. W. Alexander Brethour, a member of the executive committee of the North Vancouver trapper named Babcock is a rather striking one.

HEBRIDEANS WOULD REPLACE JAPANESE

PROVIDED B.C. GOVERNMENT WILL INCREASE AID

Father Macdonnell Declares Several Hundred Fishermen and Families Would Migrate If Assisted

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27.—"Provided the British Columbia Government really means business and intends to replace her Japanese fishermen with Europeans, I can bring out gradually several hundred families of Hebrideans exactly suited to this industry, but the Provincial authorities must do more generous than the present offer of $200 a family indicates," Father A. Macdonnell, who has been instrumental in bringing one thousand such settlers to the Dominion, stated last night. During the last year, six hundred settlers have been brought in from the Hebrides and many more were available for next year.

$200 Quite Inadequate

Father Macdonnell said the offer of $200 was quite inadequate, but that he hoped it would be doubled. Under the Empire Settlement Scheme, the Canadian Government would pay the same amount as the Government of British Columbia. A sum of $1,200 said Father Macdonnell, would enable each family to have its own house and a few acres of land. "None of the critics seem to think $300 sufficient, one of them even suggesting to me that they ought to give $500. If fishermen, I ought to arrange for them to live in tents until they had saved enough money to build homes of their own."

Father Macdonnell said the Hebrideans were satisfied and were making arrangements to leave. He also repeated remarks of F. L. Calder, K.C., of Montreal, when he said that Hebrideans were quite unsuitable as agricultural settlers for the prairies.

IRISH HONOR TO DEPARTED WORTH

Factions Display Animosity at the Tomb of Late Major Macswiney, of Cork

CORK, Ireland, Oct. 27.—A strange scene occurred at St. Finan Barr Cemetery yesterday, the anniversary of the death of Lord Mayor Macswiney, which was simultaneously commemorated by national troops and a republican procession headed by Major French.

On reaching the grave the republicans found the troops in possession. The Lord Mayor requested them to withdraw, but they refused to do so until they had laid wreaths over the grave. They retired somewhat, but remained in the cemetery.

Then the Lord Mayor, addressing the people, asked them to leave without demonstration, and, as they moved away, a national army officer stepped forward bearing a glass-enclosed wreath. It was presented by Annie Macswiney, a sister of the late Lord Mayor. She read the inscription and, snatching the wreath away, hurled it to the ground. The officer made no comment, but withdrew, and others struck at the wreath with sticks and stones, while others kicked it to pieces.

Later republicans went to the monument in the city and there deposited wreaths intended for the grave.

Hamburg Elections Show Big Opposition Gains

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—In view of the impending Reichstag elections the balloting yesterday in the Free State of Hamburg, Germany, showed that the small bloc hitherto had had a small majority, regarded as significant, in some quarters. Provisional figures indicate: Democrats lost two seats; Socialists lost 16; People's Party lost 4; Cent. Party gained 1; Nationalists gained 1; Communists gained 7 and the Hitler-Ludendorff party gained 4. The formation of a so-called middle bloc government with the inclusion of the Centrists and People's Party appears probable.

EXPERT FORECASTS GAINS FOR TORIES AND LIBERALS

Says that British Liberals Will Poll Diminished Vote, But Change Will Not Be Drastic

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Sunday Observer, referring to the Zinovieff letter thinks that the Lib. Incidence will have little effect on the elections for the Russian treaty has only been a minor issue of the campaign in many constituencies, and represents the forecast of one electioneering expert whose predictions on previous occasions have been surprisingly accurate.

It is as follows:

"Conservatives, 300; Labor, 200; Liberals, 100; other parties, 15.

General prophecies without considering the actual number of seats won, assume that the Conservative poll will be largely increased, the Labor poll will be diminished and the Liberal poll reduced, but not drastically.

Dr. Archibald Sinzon, attached to the Alexian Hospital, later declared the condition of the four patients sent from the laboratory to his institution as "chemical psychosis."

He said he did not know exactly how ethylene gas affects the mind, but we do know it causes the patient to have hallucinations.

Continual inhalation of it will cause death, but if a patient realizes that the gas is affecting him and seeks medical aid, the patient will recover rapidly.

The police have been advised to keep the body in a month or more. Once the level, the body recuperates rapidly, and there are no after-effects."

DYES IN OIL LABORATORY FATALLY AFFECTED

Workers in Experimental Department Succumb to Illness or Go Insane and Commit Suicide

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Gas madness has again reigned in the laboratory of the Standard Oil Company plant at Elizabeth, N.J., according to reports which leaked out yesterday. Two men are said to have died from the effects of ethylene gas, and three are said to have been driven insane. All efforts to get an official statement from company officials have failed. Experiments have been conducted at the laboratory to determine the value of the gas in the production of gasoline.

According to information gathered at Elizabeth, the first sign of trouble came Tuesday morning. William Oerger started other laboratory employees by shrieking he could see three figures coming at him.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

He was sent to the hospital and died Saturday. The next day, Herbert Fuchs and William Dymock were sent to the hospital where he had fallen from his bedroom window. Dymock died last night at the hospital where he had been taken with a severe headache and William Dymock, another laboratory employee, George, it was said, in Elizabeth, lost twenty-two pounds weight in four weeks at the laboratory. Although the matter was not reported to the police of Elizabeth, it was learned that County Physician C. Brokaw said he found Oerger had died apparently from ethylene gas poisoning.

Dr. Archibald Sinzon, attached to the Alexian Hospital, later declared the condition of the four patients sent from the laboratory to his institution as "chemical psychosis."

He said he did not know exactly how ethylene gas affects the mind, but we do know it causes the patient to have hallucinations.

FINAL PAYMENT ON HOME BANK DEPOSITS

Advance of Twenty-Five Per Cent by Banks Has Been Returned by Liquidators

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—The advance of 25 per cent on the banks on the Home Bank deposits has been returned to the Canadian institutions by the liquidators. The final payment in this connection was made on Friday.

Apart from indicating tangible results of the liquidator's efforts to resolve the Home Bank wreck, the last instalment paid to the assisting banks marks an interesting chapter in a financial drama.

When the Home Bank depositors received 25 per cent on October 1st, Christmas was not far away, and the accommodation on the part of the big banks came in the nature of Yuletide cheer.

POINT GREY PLANS LARGE RENOVATION

SEEKS TO ADOPT TOWN-PLANNING SYSTEM

Minister of Lands Concurs in Proposition and Government Will Sell Land

Favorable consideration was given by Hon. T. D. Paitullo, Minister of Lands, to a scheme for the beautification of a two-hundred-acre section of the municipality of Point Grey according to the announcement made yesterday. The plan was presented by a delegation composed of Councillors J. A. Paton, Joseph F. Morris, Warner Loat and A. G. Harvey, of Point Grey.

According to representations made by the various property owners involved have agreed to the Council's scheme which will involve the spending of approximately $35,000, and which, it is said, will convert the two hundred acres of hillside property into a fine residential section. About forty per cent of the land will be converted to the municipality through tax sales, and seventeen lots are owned by the Provincial Government. It was to make a deal regarding these seventeen lots that the delegation called on the Minister, Mr. Paitullo. The Minister, while favoring the plan, would not commit the Government to any outlay, but proposed that Point Grey should purchase the property. The councillors were agreeable to the proposition, providing the Government will allow a sum of money owed by it to the Point Grey municipality to apply on the purchase price.

The two-hundred-acre tract is largely subdivided into building lots, and streets of the original survey are on grades of eleven to twenty per cent. Under the new plan no street will have more than a five per cent grade.

According to one of the councillors, the scheme is the largest of its kind ever proposed in Canada, and it constitutes the first effort on the part of any British Columbia municipality to undertake systematic town-planning.

NEW ISLAND BODY MEETS NEXT WEEK

Mr. George I. Warren Leaves Today to Perfect Organization Preparatory to Convention

The new organization was incorporated during the Winter of 1922-23, functioning for the first time last season, and excluding this year, has still three years to carry on under the present form of government. During the past year the various Boards of the Island for the purpose of stimulating organization along the lines suggested, and in order to awaken interest in the forthcoming gathering.

Three matters will come up for consideration at this coming gathering to be held in Duncan. It is safe to promise that each one of these will be enthusiastically endorsed by the various representatives that attend the meeting. Following this they will be definitely presented upon the platform to the public, those that are in position to deal with them.

The first of these questions is the advisability of hard surfacing of the Island highway. It is not expected that this will be accomplished in one year, but it is to be presented to the Government that a system of dealing with a part of the road each year be adopted.

The setting aside of Elk River Falls as a point of interest for tourists will also be brought up, and there will also be moves to wiped out the lumber differential rate in connection with shipments of this commodity from Vancouver Island.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB SEEKS SKID CURE

At the request of Bruce Macleod, of Saanich, Mr. H. R. Webb, secretary of the Victoria branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia, has been in correspondence with the Canadian Good Roads Association of Montreal and highway officials in Eastern cities with a view to ascertaining methods of preventing skidding from becoming slippery in wet weather. While some of the replies received say that no process has yet been found that has the desired effect, a certain amount of success has been achieved in some districts.

The Club originally submitted a process used in that city on some of the grades. Roads built by the penetration process were left to more or less rough state by finishing with a coat of half-inch crushed rock and a light tarvia binding material, while the smooth asphalt roads were treated with sand and a hot bituminous mixture. The latter process has already been used here, and, while it overcomes the trouble to a certain extent, it has to be repeated periodically. A large percentage of accidents are caused through skidding on slippery pavements, and highway officials are giving serious consideration to the matter of avoiding this condition both in the construction of new roads and the treatment of existing ones.

Mr. G. S. Berryfield of Merrifield & Dick, has been elected a member of the executive of the Automobile Club of British Columbia. This is in accordance with the arrangements made when the B.C.A.A. was amalgamated with the Auto Club, the membership of Victoria being increased by the membership of the B.C.A.A.

Canadian Corps Early Was Given Baptism of Fire

The van of the Canadian Corps underwent its baptism of fire at famous "Plug Street" a week after H. Q. was established in the Hesbrouck-Caen area, and, while its first major operation was not pulled off till April 22, 1916, in the intervening weeks it had been engaged in many skirmishes. The value of its rigorous training, in support, the artillery fired their first shot at Neuve Chapelle, and the Princess Pats were engaged at St. Eloi, where the enemy had succeeded in breaking in the line. It marched at the outset to the First Army, H.E.A., the corps was allotted to the Second Army early in April, and moved to the Steenvoorden sector, relieving the 11th Division of the French army. From then on came the "trenches in the thick of things." The "Battalions," already an arena soaked with British and Prussian blood, was to see what stamp of man Britain's greatest Dominion had sent into the lists.

GROWERS DEMAND ACTION FROM LEGISLATURE

Breaches of Contract Will Be Curbed If Lawmakers Act—To End Legal Technicalities

With the Associated Growers of British Columbia, Limited, the big co-operative fruit shipping organization of the interior, publishing the statutory notice that application will be made at the next session of the Provincial Legislature for an act to be known as "The Associated Growers of British Columbia, Limited, Relief Act," a new departure is being taken in what is commonly referred to as tripartite or growers' agreements."

The purpose of the bill is the purpose of curing all formal defects and all formal objections to the validity of all contracts entered into by the association with individual growers.

Such an occasion presented itself yesterday morning in the police court when James Albert and Mary Marston, charged with being drunk, were arraigned before him. Neither of them would trust themselves to explain the situation in English, but when Magistrate Jay hailed them in the classic language of the Pacific Coast they waxed quite fluent. They probably satisfy the court, however, that they had not violated the Indian Act, and were accordingly fined $10 each.

THE BRITISH ELECTION

A campaign of short but somewhat fierce duration comes to an end in Britain today and tomorrow the people will decide, for the second time within a year, the character of the Government they want. It is true that they did not decide last time, but gave, instead, an indeterminate verdict. The same may happen tomorrow, but the prospects are that at least a decision will be given showing the estimate that is held of the policies pursued by a Labor Government during its nine months in office. The past nine months have shown conclusively that no Government in a minority can continue to hold office under the three-party system unless it exercises the greatest care to avoid outraging the convictions of its opponents. The Labor Government was given a sporting chance. Mr. MacDonald, the Prime Minister, accepted the responsibilities of office knowing he was in a minority. He claimed to the full the privileges which attach to such responsibilities. He was accorded many plaudits abundantly and generously. Even when he had exhausted the patience of his opponents he was still given an opportunity to escape the dissolution of Parliament by acceding to their wishes and permitting a parliamentary inquiry into the Campbell case. He has chosen the course of appealing to the people.

Prior to the development of the Campbell case Mr. MacDonald, although he knew that Parliament was opposed, negotiated and signed treaties with Bolshevik Russia. He listened to no protests from any source. He assumed the privileges of Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary combined to become a law unto himself—a dangerous thing when he was exercising the responsibilities of minority government. He has been brought to book with what is believed to have been a tampering by his Government with the administration of the law, although in the actual election campaign the Campbell case has proved a somewhat minor issue. Of far greater importance is the attitude of the country towards the Russian Treaties. Of greater importance still is the verdict to be given on the subject of Socialism versus Constitutionalism. It is the latter issue that is the dominant one in the campaign now closing. It is upon this issue the people of Britain decide tomorrow.

Mr. MacDonald, the Prime Minister, has made no secret of his belief that the people of Britain are ready to give his Government majority support and that as a result of tomorrow's election he will have a clear lead over all parties in the House of Commons. Many of his supporters are by no means so optimistic. A studied review of opinions coming from Labor sources leads to the conclusion that the most the Government can hope to achieve is a gain of from 20 to 40 seats. The Opposition forces do not believe that Labor will make any substantial gain, though it is admitted they may elect approximately the same number of members as they had in the last House of Commons. Of the other parties the Liberals have nearly 100 fewer candidates in the field than in the last election and the assumption is that they will sustain losses and possibly have their following reduced to 100, or only slightly more, members in the House of Commons. The Conservatives during the campaign have not made any bombastic claims about success though they constitute the one party which has a definite chance to secure a majority in Parliament.

The state of public opinion in Britain is difficult to gauge during an election campaign so chaotic as that now concluding. One thing is certain, however, and that is that Labor has not enhanced its reputation with the country during the campaign. Its prospects were brighter at the moment of dissolution than they are on the eve of the election. Mr. MacDonald and his Ministers have been on the defence on every platform. They have been unable to offer an explanation of the Russian Treaties that appears conclusive to the sane, common sense of Britain. They have said nothing of a tangible character about their intentions of relieving the burden of taxation on the people. On the contrary, practically every plank of the platform they have enunciated involves new expenditures, some of them so onerous in contemplation that it will be a cause for wide-world wonderment if they are approved by the British people. Egged on by their recalcitrant followers they are offering what they believe to be an economic millennium before they have served a sufficiently long apprenticeship in the responsibilities of economic government. They have made it clearly understood that they are appealing for power in this election to put Socialistic doctrines into practice, that they wish to engage in an era of experimentation, and that what they wish to do they are prepared to do in defiance of economic laws.

Election prophecies are liable to be very far astray from actual results but there is one thing that can be said about the present political situation in Britain with some degree of certainty. In the estimation of the most astute observers the Conservatives stand a greater chance than either of the other parties to gain as a result of the present election. At the worst the estimate is that they will remain the strongest party in the House of Commons, and that, therefore, they will be called upon to form a new Government. The Liberals have made their experiment in sustaining a Labor Government in office and it is one which has alienated many supporters from their cause. If the Liberals suffer heavy losses in tomorrow's election, which seems probable, the obvious reason will be the alliance which they formed with Labor over a period of nine months. The trend of events can hardly be said to have justified their judgment in throwing Mr. Baldwin out of power to make Mr. Ramsay MacDonald Prime Minister. Britain has not benefited by the exchange. The people themselves will decide tomorrow on their estimate of the consequences of the action of the Liberals, and the followers of the Liberal Party will be a big factor in determining the result. It has always been apparent to those who have followed the trend of political events in Britain that an alliance between the two great constitutional parties is a natural consummation, if only as a temporary expedient, that an alliance which makes possible and fosters the development of Socialist policies, which have already, in some fields, had disastrous results.

THE LABOR ATTITUDE

Mr. Trevelyan, the British President of the Board of Education, displays the pro-Soviet inclinations of the Government of which he is a member by his advocacy that the Russian language should be taught more widely in British schools. He believes such knowledge will be in greater demand because of so much anticipated increase in trade with Russia. Mr. Trevelyan is considering an interchange of teachers and students between Great Britain and Soviet Russia, doubtless with the aim in view of forwarding the gospel of Communism. It is perfectly obvious that the Soviet Government would not permit any of its teachers or students to visit Britain, and to do so with official sanction and for a specific purpose, unless they were thoroughly imbued with the Communist doctrine. It is equally certain that teachers and students who might go from Britain to Russia would only derive their increased "knowledge" from Communist schools. Mr. Trevelyan, in his present position presumably knows what are the conditions of education in Russia. No doubt he has read the alarming description of the schools as portrayed by Mme. Lenin at a recent meeting of the Communist Party. Whatever he knows, he has advanced a proposal that will not arouse any great enthusiasm except in the Left Wing of the Labor Party. The whole trend of the Labor Party's policy seems to be turning more and more in the direction of Russia. Whether or not the people of Britain think they have a long enough spoon to sop up with the devil will be determined by their votes this month.

A "NEW" DISEASE

The epidemic of Encephalitis lethargica (the sleeping sickness) of which 4,000 cases were notified in England and Wales, seems to be passing away in Britain, but at the present time there is a notable outbreak in Japan, while no doubt in the course of years it will become evident on an epidemic scale in other countries. The disease is new so far as recognition of it by physicians is concerned, and they have been unable to discover the cause. It was first discovered "medically" in 1918, and since that year it seems to have changed its type. The Medical Officer of Health for Liverpool, a city which was badly afflicted by the disease, points out that the sleepiness or lethargy has been less prominent lately, and that instead sleeplessness and other symptoms of excessive activity of the brain have dominated the clinical picture.

Britain young people have been more commonly affected than middle-aged or elderly persons, whereas in Japan in the present epidemic there the contrary seems to be the case. In Liverpool the age period of highest incidence was ten to twenty years. In Japan, if discharges are to be believed, only ten per cent of the sufferers come within those ages. With children the disease is the most serious, or at least it leaves the most serious consequences. The disease will recur, and there should be wider knowledge regarding its treatment, as well as research work to determine its origin and to see what may be done in the way of prevention. More should be known about the symptoms and consequences so that the utmost care can be exercised in the incipient stages.

Canada's Story Day by Day

By BLODOWEN DAVIES

OCTOBER 28

There is a chapter of romance about Sir John A. Macdonald's life round about the time when he succeeded in drawing the Canadian Provinces into Confederation. He spent the winter of 1866-7 in London working with delegates from the Provinces to the formation of the Canadian Federation. He was a lonely man, for nine years previously he had lost his wife, and in the tumult of politics he had no home-life to counteract his harding processes. He found time in London to press his courtship with Susan Agnes Bernard, a daughter of the Governor-General, James Bruce. The wedding took place soon after the Confederation Bill had been presented to the House of Lords by the Earl of Carnarvon. A few weeks after their marriage they were presented at the court of Queen Victoria. A new life began for Macdonald. The home atmosphere which he had missed for so long affected his private and public career. His wife was keenly sympathetic, supporting him in all his ambitions and ideals. When his health broke after the negotiations leading up to Confederation, she nursed him devotedly and drew him back to health. They spent twenty-four years together in Canada, Sir John dying in Ottawa in 1891. After his death, on this day in 1891, Lady Macdonald was granted the dignity of baroness, and the title of Baroness Macdonald of Earncliffe in the Province of Ontario, in recognition of her distinguished husband's services to his country, and the Empire.

EAGLES PREPARING FOR BIG CONVENTION

Drive For New Members Will Be Made Throughout Country To Bring Membership to Million Mark

Victoria Aero No. 12, Fraternal order of Eagles, will entertain about seven thousand Eagles here next year when the annual convention will be held, is holding a big campaign in all parts of the country. At the regular meeting held last Wednesday night, in their hall, Fisgard Street, a circular was read from the Grand President pointing out that the membership of the lodge was now close to one million and telling of the efforts which were being made throughout the United States and Canada to bring the Order over that mark.

With a view to attracting new members, the lodge intends to hold a series of socials and concerts beginning with a "Mugle and Jig" entertainment on Nov. 1, when all lodges and members are requested to make a special effort to be present. The success that has marked these entertainments in the past is well known and a large turnout is looked for.

After the meeting, the Lodge Department of the International Order of Eagles, purchased thirty feet of the Eagles property on Fisgard Street, was rejected. It is the intention of the club when funds are available to erect a club that will have all the features of some of the large clubs in the States.

SAANICH CONSERVATIVES

Large Crowd of Card Players and Dancers Attended Weekly Entertainment

The Military "500" parties being held weekly in the Conservative Club quarters, Campbell Building, by the Saanich Conservative Association, are gaining in popularity as the season progresses. A large number of tables will be open for the entertainment of the spectators at the gathering, the special menu for the evening, the "500," will look a much prettier sight with the families, with their courteous and obliging conductors, passing to and fro. Hoping that something may be done in order to retain for us this valuable asset to our beautiful country, which may be lost if we do not keep the "500" in the "Eden of the West" if only the right spirit obtained amongst its citizens.

MONUMENTS OF THE FOREST

Spires upon spire
Of tufted evergreen;

Mound meeting mound
With mossy meeting bough;

Roofed with drooping boughs;

An emerald canopy;

To please the eye;

And emerald moss;

To comfort weary feet,

A forest shelter—

Most restful haven

Of the passer-by

Young saplings

In their all unconscious joy,

Whisper their secrets

In a cool, shaded shade

Of green, bare trees;

With serrage, leafless boughs

That cleave the sky

With ragged silhouettes;

Not things to pity, these,

Not to regret.

But green materials

To their former selves

That bloomed in beauty once

And yielded flowers

Giving their share of perfume

To the air.

And, having lived their fill,

Then died content.

To be themselves.

Their own selves' monument.

Arts and Crafts' Society

Sir—The committee of the Island Arts and Crafts Society desires to express, through the medium of your valuable paper, its sincere thanks to all those individuals and firms who so kindly helped us to make the exhibition a success. We thank you.

Never before in the history of the society has there been interest taken by the public of Victoria in its work; the attendance, sale of pictures and refreshments were beyond our expectations, also on two visits made to the exhibition by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Nichol, with the keen and intelligent interest he displayed, was greatly appreciated by all.

We therefore hope that all those who assisted us in any way will accept this public acknowledgment as an appreciation of their kindness and help.

JAMES S. McMILLAN,
Honorary Secretary, 201 Union
Bank Building, Victoria, B.C., October 27, 1924.

City Council the way is now paved for early payment of the payment to the "Bureau."

Neither of the gentlemen who replied to my previous letter advanced any satisfactory reason why the taxpayers of Victoria should continue to pay the advertising bills of a limited number of dealers and contractors benefiting from the tourist trade. Instead of contending that my statements they have adopted, the usual attitude of "no case—abuse of plaintiff's attorney."

Your committee, Sir, has been doing me a favor by giving me a visit to Sidney, the busy port of entry for the American tourist. I have, as a matter of fact paid many visits to his town in the heyday of the tourist season, but could not see the evils of the tourist traffic in Sidney which he refers to. Mr. Dawes is a resident of Sidney and he is familiar with the condition of employment and business generally at that point. If, however, I wished to take the trouble to obtain further information concerning tourist business generally, I would not take his advice and visit either the Publicity Bureau, the Automobile Club, Sidney, or himself, for very obvious reasons. Nor would I, if I wished to ascertain conditions in Canada, place my great reliance upon the political speech of Mr. MacKenzie King. I would prefer to rely upon my own observation in all these matters.

It must be conceded that the tourist traffic does benefit a few hotels, restaurants, and possibly one or two dealers, but on the other hand the Province has had extra expense in order to keep in repair and maintain our Island roads as a result of heavy motor traffic. For years past the City of Victoria has been unable to attract the tourists to our part of the country, and the Province is really losing money to the tourists.

I confine myself to the appropriations for the past five years. The following statement is taken from the annual report obtained at the City Hall:

1920	Publity	$ 8,700
1921	Publity	15,000
1922	Publity	25,000
1923	Publity	20,000
1924	Auto Camp	5,000
1924	Publity	23,000
1924	Auto Camp	2,842
Total		$98,142

Probably as much again was spent for the five years preceding 1920. Now I would ask the advocates of a further $45,000 what advantages have accrued to the people of Victoria in view of the amount of public expenditure of the Province? I am inclined to believe that if we had spent $100,000 in the development of industry in our city we would probably have something to show for the investment today. A community which has to fed by the outside world and cannot stand on its own feet is in pretty poor shape, and our publicity advocates would have us believe that Victoria is in such a condition.

I would suggest that since the citizens have been denied an opportunity to express their wishes on this subject, let me repeat that the ratemakers should permit the ratepayers to have their hall for a public meeting in order to test the state of public opinion on this matter, and a referendum taken at such a meeting might be of assistance to the City Council with the matter come up for consideration.

It is not the extra mill on the dollar that rankles in the mind of the taxpayer, although there are sufficient mills on the unfortunate dollar already. The principal difficulty is that the ratepayers are compelled to pay the extra mill on the dollar, and the ratepayers should be easily accessible to the individual who desires to advertise himself at the expense of the community.

Secrets of Earth May Be Revealed By Sinking of Pit

Science Hopes to Lift Veil for Twelve Miles—Cash for Project Is Set at $100,000,000, While It Would Take Fifty Years to Complete Task—Molten State Believed but Short Distance Beneath Surface

SYSTEMATIC STUDY OF EARTH'S INTERIOR SUGGESTED

By DR. ARTHUR SELWYN BROWN

THE recent proposal of Sir Charles Algernon Parsons, the eminent British engineer, to sink a granite-lined shaft into the earth to a depth of twelve miles, is not the first of its kind. Since the remotest times, scientists have been anxious to explore the interior of the earth's crust and survey the lithosphere, or rock crust, and, perhaps, the pyrosphere, or molten area beneath it, and gain knowledge of the barosphere, or the heavy interior portion. Actual work in digging holes into the earth has barely exceeded a mile in depth. The deepest mine shaft today is that of St. John del Rey gold mine, in Brazil, which is 6,500 feet in depth. Several of the gold mines in the Kolar field, in India, are nearly the same depth, and the Village main shaft, in the Transvaal, is 6,100 feet, while the City Deep Company, in the same field, proposes sinking its shaft to a depth of 7,000 feet. This promises to be a new adventure in deep mining. Diamond drills have penetrated to greater depths than mining shafts.

The world's deepest borings are the Union Oil Gardens, No. 1, Dominguez, Calif., 7,226 feet; the Lake petroleum, Fairmont, W. Va., which reaches 7,579 feet; the Goff oil well, Clarksburg, W. Va., which is down 7,388 feet; the Caucho well, Germany, which has been bored 7,348 feet, and the Great Western, McDonald, Pa., which is 7,249 feet deep.

Limit to Mining Shaft

The limit to the depth of a mining shaft is conditioned by the heat of the rocks. When a depth of a mile is reached the temperature in the working becomes so high that men are unable to labor. A temperature of this kind is reached in some localities long before a mile in depth. In 1904, the miners of the Zinc stock Lode, Virginia City, Nev., the mine waters are at the boiling temperature at 600 to 800 feet in depth. They have to be kept away from the miners, and this is a troublesome cost.

A survey of a large number of diamond holes sunk throughout the world shows that there is a great variation in the rock temperatures passed through by the drills. As a rule, a rise of one degree in temperature is noticed every thirty or forty feet sunk. But this applies only to surface temperatures. In deep holes it appears probable that the temperature increases rapidly with depth. This is a question requiring study.

The land's crust, like the ocean, has been little studied, and that is why a systematic study of deep diamond holes and shafts is desirable.

Diamond drills can pierce the earth quicker and more cheaply than shafts. The depth to which a six-inch bore can be sunk depends upon the drilling skill of the engineers and the strength of the cable in the case field or in a given area it is necessary to sink a large number of holes, carefully log every foot passed through and then plot the data in the form of a sectional geological map. That is the way a mining field or the geological formation of a district is mapped.

Sir Charles Parsons, in 1904, estimated the cost of sinking at $1,000,000 for the first two miles, which would require ten years to sink. He expected a rock temperature of 122 degrees Fahrenheit at that depth. The cost of sinking eight miles he placed at $1,250,000. It would require fifty-five years to sink and the rock temperature at the bottom he expected to be 122 degrees Fahrenheit. His latest estimates for sinking the shaft to a depth of twelve miles are for the cost to be $100,000,000, and the time fifty years. These are below the estimates he made in 1904. The temperature at a depth of twelve miles he anticipated would be 272 degrees Fahrenheit. This would be above the boiling point of water.

The study of rock analysis appears to indicate that there is a variation of the specific gravity of rock masses in the various continents. This, however, appears to be due to an insufficient number of analyses to show the true structure of the continental acidic rocks.

The Outer Crust

The outer crust of the earth is composed of compounds of thirteen elements. These, in the order of their importance, are oxygen, silicon, aluminum, iron, calcium, sodium, potassium, magnesium, titanium, phosphorus, hydrogen, carbon and manganese.

Diamond drills are used to find the elements found in the igneous rocks. Their salts, like the carbonates, sulphates and phosphates, are found chiefly in the sedimentary rocks, such as silts, limestones and sandstones. A useful division of these elements may be made into metallogenic or ore-forming and in volcanic rocks and petrogenic or rock-forming elements, such as silica and the lighter specific gravity elements and chemical groups of earth salts.

The process of evolution of the present constituents of the earth's crust from the molten state to the beautiful crystalline forms like those of the diamonds, sapphires, rubies, quartz and feldspars, apparently having been long, intricate and interesting. But we know very little about them. Our theories explaining them are based upon very slender observations. We know that helium is evolved from uranium, and radium is also a decomposing product of uranium. These elements, helium and radium, show us how spontaneous evolution proceeds in nature, and how certain elements are continuously experiencing violent emissions of energy. They tell us that what the medieval alchemists said about transmutation is possible and that if we study a little more deeply we shall discover many brilliant fairy tales that will outshine any we have hitherto read in the books of science.

A thorough, systematic study of the interior of the earth's crust is one of the greatest and most pressing fields for exploration today.

It will need the establishment of a number of deep underground scientific observatories where observations may be made every hour of the day and night over a series of years. There should be one of these on every continent.

They need not be sunk to the greatest depth suggested by Sir Charles Parsons. That appears to be an impossible depth. They should be as deep as they can be sunk. Instead of choosing new locations for the shafts, it is perfectly feasible to make use of existing mining shafts, continuing them to greater depths, wherever necessary. Subterranean observatories would be such valuable national assets when properly established that it seems only a question of time when this is realized by the world's governments.

OLD-TIME RESIDENT DIES AT 72 YEARS

Mr. Andrew Townsley, Thirty Years Citizen Here—Union Club Engineer for Long Period

Mr. Andrew Townsley, a pioneer citizen of Victoria, died last night in the Jubilee Hospital at the age of 72 years. He had been a resident of the city for thirty-nine years and had a wide circle of friends here. His late residence was at 2627 Mount Stephen Avenue.

A native of Montreal, Mr. Townsley spent his youth in that city, serving him as an engineer and mechanician there with the firm of Frothingham & Workman. In 1885 he arrived in Victoria, working for the Mount Royal Milling & Manufacturing Company here as engineer. After sixteen years with this firm, he went up to Yukon during the Klondike rush, and worked for several years on Yukon River steamers. On his return to Victoria, he became engineer to the Victoria Club, remaining in that post until old age forced him to give it up last year.

He was a member of the A.O.U.W., an association with which he had been connected for thirty years.

Surviving him are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. N. T. Macmillan and Mrs. J. B. Weite, of Victoria, and Mrs. W. P. Thompson, of Oakfield, Cal.; two sons, Mr. Guy F. Townsley, and Mr. Theodore Townsley, Seattle; one brother, Mr. James Townsley, of Victoria; and three grandchildren.

Twelve Given Prison Sentence for "White Capping" Alleged Vandalism of One Husband

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 27.—Twelve residents of Myersville, upon whom sentence was passed here yesterday following pleas of guilty and convictions on charges resulting from the tarring and feathering of Miss Dorothy Grandson, 17, July 26, tonight in the Frederick county jail, pending their removal to the house of correction. Mrs. Mary Shank, who admitted applying the tar and feathers to Miss Grandson's body, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. Miss Shank agreed that the "white capping" was the result of too intimate relations between her husband and Miss Grandson.

Harry Leatherman and Arthur Rice, found guilty of aiding and abetting in the assault, and of rioting, were given two years each on each count. Convictions of rioting brought one year sentences to Roma, Walter and Calvin Shank, John Langdon, Alvin Rice, Vernon Summers, Grayson Doug, Irvin Rice and William Hough. Defendants were given credit for time served.

Urner cast aside a petition signed by hundreds of residents of Myersville asking clemency for the guilty persons, saying that mob rule must be stopped.

Special Patrol Arrests Three Men Near Blaine—Reveals Alleged Smuggling Operation on Coast

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—Arrest of three men yesterday near Lynden, Wash., and at Blaine, Wash., by a special patrol along the Canadian border. Lester T. Weeden, United States Immigration Commissioner, said here today, breaking up the smuggling Hollanders into America.

Warren J. Curry, the agent charged, was smuggling Wilbur Hoestra, a Hollander, across the Canadian boundary, where arrested near Blaine, Nicholas Valentine, Draft, deported from Vancouver, B.C., to Blaine, because of illegal entry into Canada, and declared by Curry to be the leader of a smuggling ring, was arrested.

One hundred and thirty-five Hollanders arrived from Holland recently in Vancouver, B.C., to settle in Canada.

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Ball for E. Clarence Bettell, former secretary to Sir Adam Beck, who has been in Hamilton for three weeks, has been reduced from $100 to $20 by the Canadian Court. Ball was reduced because of the fact that all the money Bettell is charged with stealing was recovered and the forgery charge withdrawn.

Aldermen Decide to Be Represented at Conference to Solve Wednesday Closing Problem

The City Council last night accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce to be represented at a conference on Thursday to debate Wednesday closing.

It was not an unreasonable thing that this question should be considered and discussed in the full light of what they knew about it, said Alderman Woodward. He would suggest that Aldermen Christian and Woodward be selected as delegates to attend the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

Ald. Woodward declared he could not see what the proposed legislation would accomplish. The new method and can be accomplished with greater rapidity and less jolting to the patient than is the case when such a trip is made by automobile. This was proved yesterday when J. Johnson, who had a distance of 90 miles to a hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the arm. The accident occurred near Gainsboro, Sask., while Johnson, presumably mechanic of the plane, was working around the machine. The man was brought here by Pilot Alton. The journey was made in a little over an hour by the plane.

"I think it desirable that something be done," said Ald. Ker. "The merchants of the city are feeling quite naturally the loss of business caused by the Wednesday half-holiday. If a solution of the problem is possible, that solution should be found. The best interests of the city demand it."

FIGHT PLEA FOR TAX EXEMPTION

ORANGEMEN OPPOSE REQUEST OF ST. ANN'S ACADEMY

Only Public Schools Should Be Tax Free; Letter Declares—Would Create Precedent

Opposition to the request of St. Ann's Academy for exemption from taxation, was contained in a letter to the City Council last night from the British Columbia Grand Lodge of the Royal Order of Orange.

The letter read as follows:

"On behalf of our legislative committee representing a large number of members who are taxpayers in the city of Victoria, I am desired to enter a protest against any exemption from taxation being granted to any schools or institutions other than the public schools."

"We understand that the Council has an application before it for consideration asking for exemption from taxation of St. Ann's Academy, a private and religious institution."

"On behalf of our members we claim that the City Council would be creating a dangerous precedent in according to this request or any request of religious educational institutions, and that the public schools, being the only recognized institutions, we respectively submit that these, and the only, are entitled to be free from taxation."

The letter was laid on the table until the next meeting of the Council, when the request of St. Ann's Academy will be considered.

HABITS OF BIRDS INTEREST AUDIENCE

Capt. Crompton Tells Natural History Society About Feathered Life in West Kootenays

The very interesting mystery of migration habits in birds came up for discussion at the meeting of the Natural History Society last evening, and it is not unlikely that the question will be dealt with at greater length at some session in the near future as a result of the interest displayed. Captain Crompton, a former member, who has been living in the Kootenays for several years, was cordially welcomed back to the club before he proceeded to touch the question of migration by giving an interesting report on the birds of the West Kootenays, which he stated he had closely studied and catalogued with the help of the Western Canada Bird Book as his guide. Whenever he had marked it down, accompanied by notes. Because of the relation they bore to the Chinook Valley, in his opinion, which were created in the early summer of each year by the flooding of the lake. These sloughs which were created in the bright summer of each year by the flooding of the lake. These sloughs had a great influence in attracting large numbers of water birds, as well as birds which evidently chose the spot for the protection afforded for nesting in the short growth above the water.

Waterfowl Among the numerous varieties and species mentioned were fourteen species of duck, three species of geese; brant, snow and Canada geese; sandpiper, Hudsonian curlew, golden plover (rare), fantail, golden eagle, bald-headed eagle, osprey, Franklin grouse, Killdeer, pluvier, herons, humming bird (an unusually large one measuring at least five inches in length), the Arkansas kingbird (large). Clapper rail, cowbird, Bullock's oriole (both found breeding there), the Grosbeak, the crossbill, several varieties of sparrows, several kinds of swallow, bunting, Bohemian waxwing, cedar waxwing, warbler, western mockingbird, willow, brush, hermit thrush, magpie, American raven, hawk (Cooper's, duck and redtail), and the horned owl.

Captain Crompton is a great advocate of the extermination of the skunk, not only for its great destructiveness among birds, but on the general principle that Mr. Skunk is an enemy of grouse and game as well as poultry. Those that go to the Natural History Society should go into co-operation with the gun clubs of the country on this matter. As a further animal the skunk was not worth preserving. The golden eagle was supposed to be a detriment to game in the central part of this Province, the bird was not numerous enough to do much harm.

The professor of Dublin University believes the earth may be growing warmer, under the influence of radioactive forces.

Enthusiasm Runs High In Stewart Mine Area

Past Season's Development Work Exceeds Fondest Hopes of the Camp's Greatest Backers—Operations in Excess of That Required by Government Carried Out on Forty Properties—Good Results Obtained, Says Portland Canal Newspaper and Mining Man

The past season's work in the Portland Canal district has set the camp on edge for great things, according to Mr. H. W. M. Holton, editor of the Portland Canal News, who is now in Victoria.

"Never in the history of the camp has so much general development been carried out during the past season," said Mr. Holton last night. "What is a matter of greatest satisfaction to both residents of Stewart and of the district and to the people whose money is developing the camp is that the work has been attended by remarkable good results."

"What we mean by the hope of men who have labored through years of adversity in the district have been exceeded, for the results now being obtained seem to indicate that their fondest dreams are on the eve of realization."

"How many properties have operated during the season in excess of the annual assessment of $100,000?"

"That is a difficult question to answer off hand, in fact, even if I were to attempt to name them all, I doubt if I could do so at short notice. There are so many that it would take some time to figure them all out. But I feel safe in saying that there were forty properties on which work was done in excess of the amount assessed. This number, of course, includes both the B.C. and Alaskan sides of the line."

"The field of operations has become so large that it will keep him pretty busy maintaining familiar touch with every new development."

"But, by starting at the southern end of the mineral belt confined to the Canal, say at Maple Bay, and going over the district, I can give some idea of what has been done."

Granby Company Buys

"At Maple Bay, some 35 miles south of Stewart, on the Canal, the Granby Company acquired the old Outsider property and sold it, and is now shipping 100 tons of ore per day to their smelter at Anyox."

"The Georgia River section, tributary to the Canal, some 18 miles south of the town, where very sensational gold values are obtained, also received considerable attention, as a result of which serious development will be up started next Spring by Eastern capital."

"The Marmot River section, two miles south of the outlet of Bear River, was very active during the season. Here several properties were the object of serious attention, the Bear and Gold Mountain, Dryer, Fraser and Porter-Idaho being only a partial list of them. The Porter-Idaho did exceptionally well, for besides the construction of considerable trail, 450 feet of tunnel was driven, good lumber cable constructed, and 175 tons of ore shipped, estimated to yield a another return of at least $150 per ton, milled and shipped. This is an exceptionally creditable record when it is considered that it was impossible, owing to lack of trail, to get a horse on the property until July 24. Today, all the ore was also shipped from the property group."

"Across in the Bear watershed and up the east side there is first the Silver Bell, being developed by Seattle Capital, and next the Silverado, backed by Victoria money. Both these properties are right above the town of Stewart, and contain several very promising workings."

Glacier and Dunwell

"Next we come to the Glacier Creek, in which an exceptionally good ore body has been encountered at depth, carrying some free gold and considerable native silver. This is a strong vein and the future looks bright. Alongside is the sister property, Dunwell, on which a large tonnage of commercial ore has been developed, and which should commence shipping during the present Winter."

"Above Dunwell is the Lakeview, on which some very promising results have been obtained. These three properties are being financed almost entirely in Victoria."

"In this section there is also the L. & L., a well-handled property; the North and South, which is obtaining very satisfactory results; the Victoria mine, owned by Holton, the Ruth and Francis, and several others. Further north is the L. I. & H., on which considerable work has been done, the Itaby Silver, and the George Copper, a wonderful copper gold property."

"Then south from the head of the Bear River there is the B.C. and the Rufus, another Victoria-backed undertaking of great merit; the Terminus, which is giving excellent promise, and the Independence, on which most satisfactory results are being obtained. Both the latter are also Victoria-backed properties. More recently is the Union Mining Company property, backed the other day from William Dunn, formerly of this city, by Mr. A. B. Tritts, of Vancouver, and formerly known as the Gold Cliff. In speaking of this property, Mr. Tritts told me that it was the best-looking property he had ever seen in British Columbia. It is two and one-half miles from Stewart and adjoins the Bay View property. Mr. Brindle, formerly of Victoria, is in charge of work for Mr. Tritts, who has laid out a very promising as well as progressive program for the winter. Exceptional results have been obtained on the surface, and there can be no doubt but that in this property Mr. Tritts has a mine of no mean proportions."

Eastern Capital Here

"Up the Salmon is the Fish Creek property, backed by Eastern capital, putting a deep and extensive development scheme into effect, that can hardly fail to prove up a large body of commercial ore."

"Next is the Rivelade, where splendid values are obtained from a depth below sea level. This property is being developed by a Ketchikan syndicate. A six-ton mill is now under construction that will enable the property to commence shipping both concentrates and high-grade ore during the winter."

"Next in the Daily Alaska, a Vancouver-backed undertaking, that has opened a very promising ore. Opposite the Rivelade on the Texada Creek section, some exceptionally fine workings have received considerable attention with good results. All these latter properties are in Alaskan territory."

"Coming back to the main Salmon Valley and crossing into B.C. again, we come first to the Premier, which with over $8,000,000 paid in dividends during the past four years, well merits the term applied to it—the 'wonder mine.'

One Uncovered

"Adjoining it on the north is the B.C. Silver, backed by London capital. Holton says that he has developed this property during the season, and gave a smelter return of $110 per ton. There are rumors, with apparent foundation, that the recent work done on the property has exposed a very splendid ore body."

"Above this one on the Salmon watershed is the Silver Crest property, a Vancouver undertaking, that is developing very well, first-rate values being encountered in what appears to be a very strong and persistent mineralization."

"Over on the Salmon Glacier the Eldorado did some very good work during the season, with good results. This property is backed by Seattle people."

"In addition to these properties even greater in number have received considerable attention from their owners, and many will, no doubt, receive permanent attention in the near future."

"All operations have been tremendously handicapped by exceptionally bad weather conditions during almost the entire season. The weather has been heavy and almost continuous rains commenced about August 20, and with the exception of two days, continued up to the time I left Stewart, ten days ago."

Fashions and Foibles

For what the French call "a dinner dress" to be worn semi-formally at a restaurant or theatre, the tunic blouse in lace over a satin slip makes a most satisfactory costume.

There are many times when you go out in the evening when you do not want to be in grand tenue. Perhaps you have come in town to do a little shopping before dinner and want to sit down with friends for a quiet restaurant dinner and the theatre. Perhaps you are going to play bridge or mah jong, or people are coming in for dinner informally and you don't want to wear formal evening dress. The new tunic blouse in ochre string color with the circular flounce worn over a satin slip fits just such needs in a most satisfactory manner.

ASKS FOR SUGGESTIONS ON STREET CAR MATTER

Mr. A. T. Goward, Vice-President of Company, Would Welcome Assistance

Arising out of the proposal on the part of the B. C. Electric Railway Company to close the service along the Saanich peninsula, a somewhat general discussion of the Electric Railway's affairs as applied to the whole city, took place at the meeting of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president, of the company, who was present at the meeting, pointed out that the situation with respect to the company's services in Victoria was a delicate question for him to deal with. He, however, gave the direction of the Chamber to understand that with the general trend in the way of using motor cars the situation as far as the tram lines was concerned was one that gave a great deal of concern.

This was a question in which all business in the city would be interested in it as vitally affected the city. He would therefore welcome any suggestions that might be offered him in this connection. The B. C. Electric was tributary to the business prosperity of Victoria and he would like the business to continue to realize this, he said.

Mr. Tritts, president of the company, who has laid out a very promising as well as progressive program for the winter. Exceptional results have been obtained on the surface, and there can be no doubt but that in this property Mr. Tritts has a mine of no mean proportions.

Fourth Dramatique

George Bernard Shaw's new play, "St. Joan," now running in New York and London, will be the offering at the fourth Dramatique on Monday, November 3. It is one of the most dramatic plays of modern times, full of Shawian sparkle. In spite of the seriousness of his purpose, he can find time and opportunity for a joke at the expense of English in nearly every scene. For example, in scene IV, Warwick asks St. Joan, "What you are an Englishman, are you?" To which the chaplain replies, "Certainly not, my lord, I am a gentleman. Still, like Your Lordship, I was born in England."

SOCIETY HAS LOST VALUABLE MEMBER

Natural Historians at Meeting Last Evening Pay Tribute to Late Dr. Newcombe

A sincere tribute to the late Dr. C. F. Newcombe, a foundation member of the Natural History Society and its president in 1900, was given at the regular meeting of this organization last evening, when the members passed a resolution of condolence to the relatives. Mr. Kelly, the president, referred to Dr. Newcombe's death as a loss to the society, of which the deceased gentleman had been a valued and valuable member. As an anthropologist he had stood second to none in the Dominion; his work to the Provincial Museum here was a lasting tribute to his genius.

Regret was also expressed at the death of Dr. Hande, created an honorary member of the society during the time that he had been head of the Carnegie Library.

POLICE AFFAIRS AT MONTREAL PROBED

to go anywhere. The place was to go April 1923.

The chief's visit had been in the autumn of 1922.

Chief Announces Himself

The chief admitted under examination that he had visited Chautauqua, but only to "amuse" himself. He also admitted having gone for card games with "little parties of friends" to a house owned by a man named La Trielle.

Asked whether he visited a certain house on Carlton Street, the chief said: "When I go to places, I go as a private citizen."

Further questioning drew from the chief admissions that he had borrowed at various times $1,000 from his nephew Ernest; $500 from another nephew, Arthur, who is a constable; $500 from Inspector Robert Egan. The latter last obtained shortly after Inspector Egan's appointment as chief of detectives, the witness said.

Replying to Belanger's objections against putting a man in the witness box and asking him to tell the truth, the chief said: "I don't care if he lies." Judge Codere said: "I think it is impossible to make a distinction between Pierre Belanger, the private citizen, and Chief Belanger, the public man. The acts of the chief of police are acts of public life. They take on a public character by his maintaining them." The inquiry is in the hands of the Montreal police.

I am, unfortunately, here to judge the conduct of the chief and of other members of the police force, who cannot be considered as mere private citizens in the face of this inquiry.'

A Profitable Purchase

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—A verdict for $20,000 damages today was awarded to Mrs. Adelheid C. Nelson, of Philadelphia, for the death of her son, Lawrence, twenty, a member of the crew of the steamship Frederick, which sank in mid-Atlantic in January, 1916, while en route from the Chicago to Australia.

The Federal district court jury which returned the verdict held that the Frederick's owners, Charles W. Morse and his son, Benjamin W., and Captain Mark L. Gilbert, had been guilty of conspiracy in sending the vessel to sea with the knowledge that it was unsafe.

The thirty members of the crew were all lost. Attorneys for the Morse said they would appeal the verdict.

POINTER FIND NO TRUTH IN SENATIONAL YARNS

Attorney-General Issues Statement—Investigators Continuing the Search for Slayer

INVESTIGATION carried on by the Provincial Police Department of Vancouver into sensational rumors in connection with the Janet Smith murder case, have proved that the wild stories which have been so prevalent during the past two weeks, are utterly groundless, according to a statement issued yesterday by Hon. A. M. Mannan, Attorney-General.

Since the time when the Provincial Police officers took the case from the hands of the Point Grey authorities, a number of stories have been sifted, it is said, and nothing of a substantial nature which might lead to the discovery of the murderer of the Scottish nurse-girl has been discovered.

Mr. Mannan's statement follows:

"Although it may not be useful for the Crown to publicly discuss the evidence in its hands in criminal cases, I feel that your public interest has been taken in the death of Janet Smith, and so many rumors have been set afloat, that it would be advisable, under the special circumstances, that something authentic should be given to the public.

"Under the law as it stands, it is the duty of municipalities to investigate suspected crime within their several boundaries, and the purpose of such investigation and for the purpose of enforcing law, including the law of homicide, are principally police and municipal authorities.

The investigation of the Janet Smith case, therefore, was a matter for the municipality of Vancouver.

Police still busy

"The Crown went further than the Coroners' Act provides, in that it requested the assistance of not one but of several of Vancouver's eminent physiologists that it might be determined if at all possible from the second autopsy as to whether the unfortunate girl had come to her death

as the result of a gunshot wound alone and whether by accident or design. The second autopsy resulted in the coroner's jury finding a murder on the part of someone unknown. From that moment till now the provincial police have never rested, but have followed every finality that might guide them to a murderer. No end of rumors have been sifted and found to be simply wild imaginings.

"Had there been fewer foundations perhaps our work would have been more fruitful; certainly much time would have been saved that was spent upon their sifting. In the end, let me say that evidence in the Crown's case indicates entirely the latest and most considerable mistake was made

Civic Voters' List for Householders
Has Less Than Half Anticipated Number of Names

While only four days remain in which registration will be possible, only 900 householders and license-holders had affixed their names to the civic voters' list when the city clerk's office closed at 9 o'clock last night.

A change in the act requires all non-property owners to register this year for the privilege of voting at the December elections. The normal registration is 2,000. Unless a last-minute rush occurs at the City Hall the actual number of registrants in expected to fall far below that.

The office will open from 7 to 1 o'clock each evening until and including Thursday evening next.

Registrants must make the following declaration:

"I, that I am a British subject and that I am of the full age of nineteen years."

"2. That I have been a resident of the city of Victoria since the first day of January of the current year."

"3. That I have paid directly to the said city all taxes, taxes or assessments, and charges on land, and which rates, taxes and assessments, so paid, amount to not less than $2 due by me to the said city for the current year, exclusive of water rates or taxes and licence fees for dogs or ..."

MARRIED Forty-two "Brides" and Negotiated Average Loan of $80 From Each

VIENNA, Oct. 27.—Forty-two women, all claiming to be wives of a married man, Gruenwald, appeared in court as witnesses against him today. Gruenwald had been arrested just as he stepped outside a tailor's shop wearing a new suit of clothes bought with money, it was testified, he had obtained from his second wife.

From the testimony of the women, it was adduced that Gruenwald was in the habit of getting money from his brides and then deserting them. The evidence indicated that he averaged about $50 per bride.

CLAIMS NEW ORGANIZATION IS OUT TO GET HIM

Tells Crowded Meeting History of Acquisition and Development of New Parks

Vigorous defence of his administration was made last night by Reeve Alex Lockley, of Esquimalt, before a large meeting held in the auditorium of the Bullock's Home. Charges of misrule preferred against him and his associates by the Esquimalt Council, at a meeting of the Esquimalt Voters' Association held last week, were answered singly and collectively, the Reeve speaking for two hours.

"I am not opposed to the formation of a voters' association of a representative character. In fact, any municipal organization, so long as it is animated by a proper spirit and is out to help its municipality," he said.

"Such an organization, working with such a desire, is an asset of no mean value; but in the case of the voters' association formed by Esquimalt there is no thought of benefit. It is composed of certain elements of the two political parties in British Columbia, and its object is a personal one—a personal attack against me as Reeve of Esquimalt. For years the moving spirits of the new organization have tried to get rid of me. They will recently they worked against me from different angles. Now they have combined their forces against the man they hate, and they are determined to put him out of office."

"They don't care if the tax rate of Esquimalt is one hundred and twenty mill, they have no concern for the municipality, they are after Reeve Lockley and those members of the municipal council who have supported him."

Camouflaged Objective

The Reeve recalled that the pre-emptive objective of the voters' association was to secure better elimination, but he characterized such a contention as mere camouflage. If such an objective were the true aspiration of the organization it would have appeared before the Municipal Council and would have presented its views and ideas through a public meeting, whereas every possible kind of destructive criticism was hurled against the elected representatives of the people.

"I could break up this voters' association this week if I said that it was not my intention to sign a resolution of censure of Esquimalt," he said. "In such an event they would immediately say that their work was done, and there was no further object in keeping the organization together."

The Reeve dealt with the many charges laid against him by the association, and after referring to the criticism of the Council's action in spending $5,000 on the much-talked-of Memorial Park, the speaker pointed out that the land for the park had reverted to the municipality through tax sales, and consequently had not cost Esquimalt a dollar other than annual interest of $400, plus its increased value.

The action taken by the council had been backed up by public demand.

RECOMMENDS BETTER GONZALES QUARTERS

Chamber of Commerce Will Make Representations to Ottawa on Matter

The Government at Ottawa will be urged to make adequate provisions for supplying living quarters at Gonzales Marine Hospital. Mr. J. E. B. Hainsworth, superintendent in charge Mr. F. N. Denison. This matter has come before the Chamber of Commerce and following an investigation of the situation on the ground the recommendation of the special committee that looked into the matter was agreed with and a report to this effect will go forward to Ottawa. The committee consisted of Mr. H. P.

Johnson and Mr. J. E. B. Hainsworth. The report pointed out that the quarters at the observatory were inadequate as far as living rooms were concerned. There was a house and a lot adjoining the observatory, but no room in the property and which could now be obtained. It would provide living quarters for Mr. Denton and at the same time it would give additional ground that could be used by visitors to the Observatory for the purpose of turning their autos, which was now almost impossible.

FIREBUG ATTEMPTS TO DESTROY HOUSE

Crawls Through Window of Extension Narrowly Escaped Destruction by Fire on Saturday Evening.

NANAIMO, Oct. 27.—The residence of Mr. Frank Behan in Extension narrowly escaped destruction by fire on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Behan had left for Nanaimo, leaving the maid in charge. Later in the night the maid crawled into another part of the house, she suddenly smelled smoke, and upon investigating found that someone had crawled through a bedroom window, set fire to a mattress and left, doubtless believing that the flames would spread and destroy the house. Matches were found on the floor near the bed of a different make than those used in the Behan household, which was taken as clear proof of incendiarism.

Later in the night Mr. and Mrs. Behan were the object of attention of the firebug who has been operating so successfully in Extension during the past few years, with the result that several residences have been burned to the ground, and no arrests made.

NANOOS BAY NEWS

NANOOS BAY, Oct. 25.—A wedding of interest to Nanoose people took place at the French Creek Church on October 14, when Miss Daisy Boorman, of Dashwood, B.C., was married to George McNeil, of Nanoos Bay. Rev. Popham of Parksville, performed the ceremony. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. T. Boorman. Mr. and Mrs. McNeil are leaving to make their home in California.

The Ladies' Aid of Nanoose Mission Church held their regular meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. M. J. Williams, Island Highway. A bazaar has been arranged to take place in the Arlington Hall on December 1st, when there will be fancy work, aprons, home-cooking and candy on sale to help the Mission funds. There will be a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Corlett next week to complete arrangements for the bazaar.

The employees of the Straits Lumber Company at Red Gap are holding a Holloween dance at the mill on October 31. The dining hall of the boarding house will be thrown open for dancing, and as the G.W.A. orchestra will provide the dance music, everyone is expecting a good time.

On Friday a successful whist drive and dance were held by the Point Point Club at the club house. There was a good crowd present, eleven tables and a large number of ladies' prizes were won by Mrs. James Doran, Sr. and the gentleman's prize by Mr. M. Lewis. The consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Stewart McPhee and Mr. John Hill. After the card games were finished, dancing was indulged in until late hours, many people coming especially for the dance. Pimlott's orchestra, from Nanaimo, provided good music for the occasion. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

ACTIVE PASS NEWS

ACTIVE PASS, Oct. 25.—The launch Attaboy, of Seattle, had the misfortune to run on a rock in Active Pass, opposite Helen Point. The danger was imminent. In its undrawn state, it has several times drawn the attention of the authorities. It is especially dangerous to small craft who keep out of the tide and the track of big ships. The shadow cast by Mt. Stull makes it almost impossible to judge the distance from rock to rock when the former submerged. Luckily the weather was calm or there might have been loss of life. The tug Radius pulled the launch off and she proceeded undamaged to Vancouver.

Local tennis players among the Islands will be interested to know that Mr. C. E. Everson, of Galiano Island, is having two tennis courts made, one hard court and the other grass, with a view to forming a tennis club on Galiano next year.

Miss V. Maude, secretary of the Active Pass Tennis Club, has been presented with a handsome silver pin tray from the members of the Club as a token of their appreciation of the interest she has taken in the Club for the past four years.

Mr. Higgins, of Victoria, has purchased the "Cain House" and "Log Cabin" and a number of acres on Galiano Island from Mr. Max Enke. Mr. Higgins intends building a large bungalow and having a fox farm there. It is an ideal spot for that purpose. It is also an attractive piece of property, with some delightful little bays and a splendid bay and gulf of Georgia and Mt. Baker.

JAMES ISLAND NEWS

JAMES ISLAND, Oct. 25.—A children's Holloween fancy dress party will be held in the Assembly Hall on Friday at 7 p.m. Prizes will be given for the best dressed boy and girl and for the best comic dressed boy and girl.

Each year Physical Culture Magazine offers $5,000 in prizes, first prize $1,000, for the best story upon health built up by natural means.

Robert G. Hepburn, of Toronto, won the $1,000 first prize for 1924 for the story of how he was built up by Roman Meal and a system of exercises taken in bed.

Food Science shows that meat has 82% food units to the pound (See Life, Its Mystery and Miracles, by J. H. Gilchrist). Mr. Hepburn, who is over 6,000 food units to the pound and all of its units are in balance, made so by using four ingredients in his compound, whole wheat, whole rye, flaxin and bran. It is the most nourishing and strength-building food sold; especially valuable for children from the 10th month and for nursing mothers because it has no sound body building properties, also for the dyspeptic and constipated.

In May, 1924, Dr. Jackson easily won a 1,300 mile bicycle contest in 19 days, living largely upon Roman Meal and milk and without tasting meat again for nine months. He weighed 21 pounds lighter, who lived largely upon meat. Roman Meal is a wonderful food, you ought to try it. Prevents indigestion, positively relieves constipation. At grocers. (Advt.)

English People Acquire Mayne Island Property

ACTIVE PASS, Oct. 25.—Property on the Islands is changing hands. "Point Comfort," the home for the last twenty-three years of Captain and Mrs. E. Maude on Mayne Island, has been sold to Col. and Lady Constance Fawkes, who lately arrived from Havant, England, and intend making their home in British Columbia.

Point Comfort was built thirty-five years ago by a syndicate and run as a hotel by Mr. Warburton Pike and others. Afterwards it passed through the hands of several owners in a series of sales. Mr. Godfrey Booth, well known in Victoria, was at one time an owner.

Messrs. W. and H. Bowmer, contractors, of North Pender Island, are at present engaged at Point Comfort, making many improvements.

REFUSES AFFILIATION ORDER IN DIBLEY CASE

In the police court yesterday morning, an application for an affiliation order against Raymond Dibley was dismissed by Magistrate Jay. By a sudden change in the situation, the magistrate said he was prepared to dismiss the case with the calling of no additional witness but Dr. D. B. Holden. The latter gave evidence that he was not going to appear for the proceedings.

At the opening of the proceedings Mr. R. C. Lowe, who appeared for the accused, said that he had been informed by Mr. J. A. Alkman that he was not going to appear for the prosecution.

Mr. Lowe then called Mr. F. C. Elliott, who had previously appeared as counsel for the girl, although Mr. Elliott objected on the ground of privilege.

Mr. Lowe's first question to Mr. Elliott in the witness box was: "When did you first become aware that perjury had been committed in connection with this case?"

"I refuse to give any information relative to this case as it is a matter of public record," said Mr. Elliott.

He also refused to produce any documents asked for and was excused by the magistrate, who held that this was privileged in its character.

MR. WALTERS NAMED B.C. PICTURE CENSOR

Mr. J. Walters, former Liberal member of the Legislature for Yale, was appointed yesterday censor for motion pictures for British Columbia. He succeeds Mr. W. Hepburn, who has been superannuated. The new censor will assume his new duties November 1.

His appointment of E. W. Bickle, of Cumberland, as police magistrate, was announced today.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth"

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and will do it. Also it will aid digestion and furnish welcome refreshment to mouth and throat.

OLD EMERALD MINE NOW WORKING AGAIN

Property Once King Pit of Sheep Creek Area Resumes Activity Concentrates Shipped

After several years of inactivity the Emerald mine, one of the properties which made the Sheep Creek country and which is situated some eight miles from Salmo, is again shipping to Trail and Bunker Hill.

A staff of from 5 to 30 men is now at work on the property which is being operated by the Iron Mountain Limited.

In the past 20 years the Emerald, one of the king pits of the Sheep Creek area, has produced about 35,000 tons of high-grade lead ore. This ore was shipped direct from the mine to Trail.

Five years ago a mill was built on the property. This plant at that time proved unsuccessful in the treatment of the low grade ore, which had accumulated from sorting. On account of the unsuccessful operation of the mill the mine was shut down and both the mill and mine were practically idle until a year ago.

Business

B.C. Mining Figures Surprising—Cotton Trade Revolutionized—Few Symptoms of Trade Boom.

British Columbia's mineral production for this year brings some surprises. Not only is the production of the present rate of production of the end of the year, the value of this year's mineral output will be around $50,000,000. This is $9,000,000 more than last year, and constitutes the record year in history of the industry.

There appears to be an increase in all metallic products. Coal and coke show a deficiency, owing to the prolonged strike in the Crows Nest Pass field. The principal increases are in silver, lead and zinc. This is due to the Silver mine in East Kootenay being this year the first that on its full annual scale of production.

There is an increase of over fifty per cent in lead production and of sixty per cent in zinc. While the total mineral production for the year can, as yet, only be a guess, it is probable that the above mentioned estimate will be found to bear near the mark by the end of the year. To allow a ready comparison, the figures for the past year are also given. These show the mining industry to be making immense strides.

But the cotton trade is no longer what it was. Lancashire has been losing hold on the markets of India, Japan and China, and increasingly are turning about for dependence on the United States for her supplies of the raw material. To add to her troubles there is the fear of a commercial agreement between France and Germany which will give French textiles an advantage over Lancashire in the German market.

Since the Versailles treaty, textiles from Alsace, now French territory, had had free entry into Germany. Lancashire suspects that cloth from other parts of France have also been going to Germany. Alsatian goods, however, may be the ones that are failing to get Germany to agree to all French cotton goods having favored entry into the Reich, and in return France would allow equivalent favors to German chemicals, dyes and coal.

Financial and business developments writes H. C. Furber, are somewhat puzzling. Everywhere in the financial—and Republican—East, financiers and industrial leaders predict that things will undergo immediate and substantial improvement immediately after November.

Yet the stock market, accepted as the best barometer of influential sentiment, doesn't reflect any such certainty. True, quotations did advance moderately last week, both in stocks and bonds; but there was nothing favoring of a pre-election boom.

Similarly, there have been few symptoms of an imminent boom in busi-

Planning to Drain Zuyder Zee

VAST ENGINEERING PROJECT
Many marvelous transformations in the earth's surface have taken place within the last quarters of a century. One stupendous engineering feat is no sooner completed than it is superseded by another. The Panama Canal, the Quebec Bridge, the Chippewa Canal, and others too numerous to mention here are all products of modern engineering. Now the Dutch propose to drain the Zuyder Zee, a body of water famous in song and story. The above map showing the Zuyder Zee will give some idea of the job the Dutch Government will be tackling. The scale of this map is fifty miles to the inch. Land is scarce on reclaiming a great tract of land, which will also help to relieve unemployment.

Vancouver May Rescind Early Closing By-Law

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—It is now almost a certainty that the early closing by-law requiring stores to close at 6 p.m. will be rescinded, as it was reported at the city hall today. A total of 260 shopkeepers have signed a petition calling for such a decision. Mayor W. H. Brown informed a delegation of small shopkeepers recently that if a petition signed by 75 per cent of the grocery stores in the city were presented the by-law would be rescinded. The petition calling for reorganization of the by-law has been signed by nearly double the number of shopkeepers who signed the petition which brought the by-law into being.

Double value for your heating money

ELECTRIC heat, always the most desirable, now becomes practical and economical. Principles of heat engineering, new to electric heaters, have been applied exclusively to Magnaray.

Magnaray compound quadruple reflectors catch and reflect the maximum number of heat rays. It is the reflected heat rays that keep you warm. Actual thermometer tests prove that over a given area Magnaray produces double the temperature increase of ordinary electric heaters.

Magnaray heat covers a wider area. A large day-enport six or eight feet away is flooded with warmth—and a bathroom, moderately sized bedroom, or office is completely heated with a Magnaray.

Magnaray is attractive in appearance. Its heating element is detachable without tools—another marked advantage. It is made in three convenient sizes, one cell, two-cell (illustrated) and three-cell.

Three-day trial in your home

Don't go another day without this clean, healthful heat. To prove its value see one of the selected Magnaray dealers and he will arrange a three-day trial right in your own home.

Gold, which advanced more than a cent to around 44.50 was the feature of irregular foreign exchange market. Buying of these bills was attributed in some quarters to the more hopeful feeling in London regarding the Parliamentary elections this week.

Gold prices turned reactionary to day with a general decline in London. While the market funds remained virtually unchanged, the rise in call money to 3 per cent was reflected in a withdrawal of the buying support by institutions seeking employment of their surplus funds.

Oversubscription of the $30,000,000 of bonds offered today gauged the market's capacity for absorbing new investments.

Captains Go to Glasgow To Bring Out New Ships

Atago Maru Will Be Delivered in December, Followed by Asuka Maru in January—N.Y.K. Will Place New Motorships on Trans-Pacific Run—Captains Kusakari and Oya Will Navigate Liners to Japan—Vessels Have Big Carrying Capacity

IT was learned definitely from Captain N. Wade of the N.Y.K. Kaga Maru, which arrived last week from the Orient, that the two new trans-Pacific liners, Atago Maru and Asuka Maru, will be out here early next Spring. He said that the Atago Maru will be delivered in Japan this December by the Glasgow firm that is constructing the liners. Two of the company's captains have already left for the Old Country to bring the vessels out.

Captain T. Kusakari will bring the Atago Maru out to Japan from the Old Country, while Captain S. Oya will command the Asuka Maru. Both these vessels will be placed on the trans-Pacific run, and will be the first Japanese motor-ships to operate on a regular schedule between Victoria and Yokohama.

Large Liner

The Atago Maru is named after the pioneer ship of the N.Y.K. Company, and is a vessel of 7,500 tons gross and 10,000 deadweight tons. She is being built by Messrs Lithgow, Ltd., of Glasgow, and is a vessel of 440 feet long, 57 feet beam and 23.6 feet deep. She will be propelled by single acting two-cycle Diesel engines of an aggregate of 4,000 b.h.p. and 100 H.P., and is designed to give a speed of 13½ knots. The engines were supplied by Messrs. Elswick Brothers, of Winterton, Switzerland, and installed by Messrs. David Rowan & Company, of Glasgow.

NEWS MAN PASSES THROUGH VICTORIA

M.R. D. N. PARRY EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK

Was One of First to Get News and Pictures Across Pacific Following Japanese Earthquake

Going to New York to report for duty Mr. Duke Parry, Tokyo representative of the International News Service, passed through Victoria aboard the Kaga Maru.

Mr. Parry will be remembered as one of those who was first to get the news and pictures across the Pacific of the great Japanese catastrophe of September 1, 1923. He first started in Tokyo as an ordinary correspondent. Later he wrote for the Hearst magazines until he was appointed Tokyo representative of the International News and Picture Service, one of the most famous news-gathering organisations in the world.

The Japanese and Chinese are going "crazy" over the American comic strips," said Mr. Parry, who recently saw the contract put through for the publication of the Maggie and Jiggs books in China and Japan. The words in the comic strips are printed in Japanese and Chinese and nearly she is being fitted with electric auxiliaries throughout, including winch, windlass, steering gear, refrigerating plant, vapor heaters and electric cooking apparatus.

David & William Henderson Company, Limited, Patrick, Glasgow, built the Asuka Maru, which is a sister ship to the Atago Maru in dimensions, but varies a little in equipment.

Two Sets of Engines

The propelling machinery on the Asuka was provided by Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., and consists of Diesel engines of their well-known triple-expansion and Winton-Harland & Wolff type. Each engine will develop a normal power of 2,000 b.h.p. when running at 125 revolutions per minute.

The Atago Maru is to be put through her tests soon, while the Asuka will be completed in November. Both liners will have limited passenger accommodation, but will cater chiefly to the freight business, especially in the carrying of silk cargoes and perishables. The carrying capacity of both liners is estimated at 13,000 tons, while there is a plenty of refrigerated space for the carrying of British Columbia and Northwestern produce, which is in demand in Japan. The refrigeration space will help Alberta and British Columbia beef exporters to expand their markets in Japan. At present there is no market in Japan for beef consumed in Japan, but meat will be shipped alive and slaughtered there.

LIEUT. M. ARAI EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK AND EUROPE

Represents Shipbuilding Department of Japanese Government—To Study Internal Combustion Engines

A tour through the United States and European countries studying engine construction for the Rihpbuilding Department of the Japanese Imperial Government, Lieut. M. Arai has passed through Victoria aboard the N.Y.K. Kaga Maru.

Lieut. Arai will visit San Francisco and New York before going to England, Germany, Holland, Norway and Switzerland to study the construction of ship's engines in the interests of the navy.

The Japanese Naval Department has a big reconstruction programme in view following the damage done by the earthquake last year and are particularly anxious to find out whether the internal combustion engines would be more suitable for their destroyers and other naval ships than steam engines.

This is for this reason that Lieut. Arai will visit all the leading European countries that build ship's engines. He will put special stress on the Sulzer type Diesel engines that are manufactured in Switzerland.

Speaking of the approaching visit of the Japanese naval delegation to the Pacific, Mr. Parry said: "Yokohama is even worse than Tokyo, and Victoria, Seattle and Victoria. The itinerary as first announced was to have commenced with Victoria. Damage to the Asama, when she went ashore, was slight, and we did not delay the squadron's visit seriously."

ARGENTINE CORN HERE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—Corn from the Argentine is being shipped into Vancouver to feed Fraser River Valley ponies, a class of prime Alberta grain. This is one fact that will be drawn to the attention of the Board of Railway Commissioners when that tribunal sits in Vancouver on November 5 to investigate Western grain rates. Argentine grain can easily find a market in the Fraser Valley market, it is declared, because the rate for domestic grain from Alberta is about sixty per cent higher than the rate for export grain.

The movement of 500 Filipinos to the Hawaiian Islands is the first large shipment since the riots on the Island of Kauai on September 9, in which 16 Filipinos and four policemen were killed in a clash resulting from strike conditions. The Filipino sugar plantation workers are brought to the Hawaiian Islands under a contract with planters to labor for $20 per month.

MANILA, Oct. 27.—Five hundred Filipino laborers left yesterday on the steamer President Grant for Hawaii. The Grand will carry the laborers to Hong Kong, where they will be transferred to the steamer Toko Maru, which lists Honolulu as a port of call on her trip to Pacific Coast ports.

The Key West is booked to take on a parcel of 500,000 feet of lumber for the Canadian ports and will tie up at pier of Flora's wharves and load from scows sent from the Canadian Forest Sound lumber mills and the Cameron mills.

The Key West, which tied up at the C.P.S. lumber mills Saturday morning, will most likely get away tonight after loading $50,000 feet of lumber for the Atlantic seaboard.

The vessel loaded 1,500,000 feet of lumber at Alberni last Friday and was down to Victoria, her cargo fell from the wings and got mixed in the hold so that longshoremen had to reshore the lumber before going ahead with the loading of the Victoria parcel. Otherwise the vessel would have been loaded from pier yesterday.

The lumber was discharged during the fierce gale which blew off the coast last Friday. The Malta Maru labored and pitched heavily in the mountainous seas that were running, while it was not safe for anyone to leave the vessel under any circumstances, as the vessel was awash most of the time. But Captain Percy Shadforth safely piloted the vessel to port and no damage was done.

In addition to this, the Russia is bringing one of the biggest mail consignments for some months. For several days past, she has been receiving bags of mail, while awaiting for shipment to Seattle there are 900 bags. The overall shipment amounts to nearly 3,000 bags of first-class and second-class matter.

The local office also reported the departure of the Empress of Asia from Hong Kong last Thursday for Victoria.

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—During September 109,135,000 pounds of sea fish valued at $2,921,111 were landed on the Pacific coast, according to figures given by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. This is an increase over the same month last year of some 6,000,000 pounds. On the Pacific Coast the catch of salmon showed quite a drop, there being $3,883,500 pounds during the month, as against $8,000,000 pounds in the last September.

The height of the tide of low water at Victoria, B.C., is 7.5 feet above the level of low water.
